

Still Hiring on All Cylinders

Interesting article in the Walls Street Journal.

- “America’s jobs market shows no meaningful sign of slumping despite recession fears and some high-profile anecdotes.”
- We have seen similar data with the October 2022 jobs report. The unemployment rate for engineers was 1.40%, compared to 3.7% for the overall economy!
- Manufacturing continued to be strong with 32,000 jobs created in October and we have 137,000 more manufacturing jobs than our pre-pandemic highs!

	US Workforce	US Unemployed	Job Openings	Ratio
US Total	164,667,000	6,059,000	10,717,000	1.77
Mechanical Engineers	284,900	3,989	91,877	23.03
Industrial Engineers	301,000	4,214	78,744	18.69
Electrical Engineers	303,700	4,252	91,058	21.42

Do you believe that candidates will be finding your postings, whether on LinkedIn or other job boards?

Contact us to see how we can help!

Still Hiring on All Cylinders - WSJ

